

It's not fair!!!

Surely Jack is the most powerful leader in this island? Why do the others vote for Ralph? He's just a self-absorbed control freak! (I know this because that's what my mummy called daddy before they sent me to boarding school!) Jack can find us food and keep us safe, he is not scared and will fight the beastie!!! I am his right hand man and I will help him on our courageous journey! Ralph is just a coward, he acts tough and he may be able to speak the words of a leader but he's all bark and no bite- Jack said so himself! Maybe somebody should push him out of the tribe, yes I'm sure he will be fine with his precious piggy!

I was going to put my hand up but no one else did.

It must have been so noble of Jack to let Ralph take all the glory, I'm sure if he'd persuaded the group using meat as an influence, then everyone would be on the other side of the island now, maybe if I... no I shouldn't threaten them should I? If it's for the good of Jack's tribe then I could coax the older boys into coming with me and joining Jack's tribe, yes I can do that!

But they should decide to join us, they will when they get hungry... for flesh.

When I and Jack hunt, we're almighty, we're predators, we're... unleashed! I love the sound of a screaming pig, the taste of its blood on my tongue, the sight of crimson red flowing out of its veins. That power, that evil, that hunger. You could say I'm an addict, a savage perhaps. But Jack told us we're not savages, we are British, we win everything! Especially hunting! The British are dangerous omnivores, we can take down lions! Well Jack could. The beast was scary, it was wild and inhumane! But now we know what we're up against. This is my chance to take over, yes! This is my chance to kill the beast and become the hero! I shall be Jack's most heroic knight, I will be like Sir Lancelot! And Jack can be King Arthur, everyone shall live in the kingdom and trust me to save them, Ralph and Piggy can be the stable cleaners! Tee-Hee!

It's hard to find pleasure when you're marooned on an island...

Sometimes I wake up in the middle of the night crying for the comfort of my parents, all I want to do is cuddle with my mummy, I haven't been given a hug in ages now and I don't even have a teddy bear. Yes I may be homesick and I don't have a choice. I just want to go back to flying my daddy's wood planes in the dining room, even if he does tell me off. Last week I made a teddy bear out of sticks and hid it away, at night time it was a bit prickly however I had company and didn't wake up at about two in the morning. I showed Jack my Mr Ted and he stamped on him, said he was for cowardly babies. I just stood, tears rolling down my eyes as the pile of broken sticks on the floor grew, Jack must have been right, I was a coward and I can't believe I cried in front of him. No one can know how I got this purple lump on my arm, I deserved to be punished for my weakness...

I hate Piggy, he keeps trying to take charge with his stupid morals and 'smart' ideas, someone outta put a knife in his throat...

Ralph and his right hand man, heh, some team they are. Ralph acts like a tough strong leader however he is nothing but a disgrace to humanity! He is just a wimp trying to be like Jack I don't see how no one has noticed that he was too scared to volunteer and hesitated to go on the hunt for the beastie! As for Piggy, where do I begin? Well, now he only has one eye to see through and still thinks of himself as a clever little teacher to the littleuns! Every day we hear the same stories of how he lived in some tiny village in the middle of the city or whatever! The littleuns literally drop off to sleep while pretending to listen to his rubbish tales. When people listen to Jack his courageous tale of how he learned to sing a G# they scream in triumph when he performs live!!! That's my favourite part! I think everyone was too shy to vote for him in the recent election and I shall go to persuade them to follow me over to Jack's new camp, and we shall rule the island!

Viva la revolution!!

Excellent tone - portrays Roger in an innovative light.

Mr Piggy
Mr Ted!